

I think the no call list for wisconsin is the best thing for the wisconsin residents. We dont want to recieve telemarketing phone calls on our personal phone. A phone in which we have so our friends and family may contact us. A phone in which we pay for. If these banks would like to be able to contact us, maybe they should pay for a second phone line to be installed in the house so we can unplug it and not worry about hearing it ring. If it were up to me, I wouldn't even allow non-profit organizations to call me. The other day, I recieved 3 phone calls within 15 minutes of each other, all calling for donations.
